

TYPICAL SPRINGTIME fallout pattern last April 21 for Minneapolis, Duluth, Milwaukee and Chicago. The "isochrones" (curved dotted lines marked in hours) show how soon and how far from the blast fallout would have covered the earth under that day's prevailing wind conditions. The "danger area" is shown within the solid black "Lines of Constant Danger," scaled to indicate the estimated radiation intensity for the first 30 hours of fallout at areas at varying distances from the blast. Evacuation of at least the danger area would be probable. (FEMA Photo)

Vital Warning

Add Fallout Forecast to Weather Report

The much-maligned weatherman, whose timely forecasts have saved many a farmer's crop, might also save the farmer and his family if the bombs start falling.

Working with local civil defense organizations, the weather scientist is a key man in providing rural areas downwind from target cities with vital information on which way and how far to run to escape deadly radioactive fallout from bombed cities.

Since June 1, the Weather Bureau, in cooperation with the Federal Civil Defense Administration, has included a special section in its regular weather report on wind direction and estimated time and place where fallout would come to earth.

If any of 92 critical target cities were hit by atom or hydrogen bombs, FEMA and State and local civil defense organizations could quickly plot in what direction the radioactive particles from the blast would go and on what area they would land.

Inhabitants could be given up to several hours warning to get animals fed and under cover, and either get in shelters themselves or leave the area.

FEMA regional offices are already preparing such plots daily for critical target cities in their areas. Many State and local civil defense organizations are following suit, and FEMA has requested all of them to do so.

The FEMA-Weather Bureau fallout warning program has both a short-range and long-range objective, as follows:

(1) The twice-daily non-secret coded reports of wind direction and speed (at 3:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time) are assembled from 350 weather reporting stations throughout the nation. The complete report is then sent back over the Weather Bureau's 30,000-mile teletype system to each station.

This is used in plotting the so-called "isochrones," or imaginary lines of constant time which link up the points where fallout at various altitudes is expected to land at successive hours after attack. When the "isochrones" are plotted on a map, they give a graphic picture of the areas from which people should flee or take cover (for a detailed explanation see the above map).

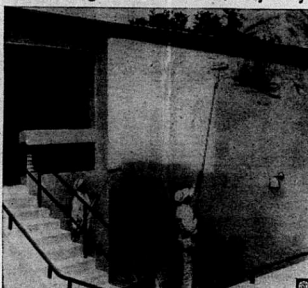

These "isochrones," however, do not tell the intensity of radioactive fallout, which is dependent mostly upon the yield of the bomb. Nor is there necessarily just one direction of fallout from an atom-blasted city (as in the above map), because high-level winds often blow in a different direction from those at low altitudes, and create their own separate fallout pattern.

(2) The long-range program of fallout warning, which the Weather Bureau calls its "climatological" program, is the plotting from wind averages of the most likely fallout areas from critical target cities so that vital industries, control centers, etc., can be located out of those sectors.

It is a calculated gamble, based on the average daily direction and speed of the winds up to 80,000 feet over the past five years. Information on low-altitude winds comes from the regular public weather reports; that for high-altitude winds is obtained mostly from the yield of wind observations at 30,000 to 80,000 feet which were originally started to aid high-flying jet pilots.

While the system of plotting fallout information is rather complicated, the resulting fallout weather map is simpler to read than regular weather maps.

Paint Rough Exteriors New, Easy Way

Painting of non-frame exteriors is now more fun than work, thanks to new painting techniques made possible by the advent of the painting roller and the outstanding quality of a new vinyl latex finish for outside surfaces, such as concrete, brick, cement block, asphalt shingles and stucco.

Paint rollers, clamped to extension poles, bring even second stories within ground-level reach, and eliminate hazardous scaffolding in stairwells and similar awkward-to-paint areas.

A new vinyl latex exterior finish, Sprayed Glide-On, is applied quickly and easily and provides a uniform and durable coating which is impervious to water.

A pioneer vinyl latex finish, the Glide-On "breathes" moisture from the inside, for it has a unique molecular structure recently created by the Glidden Company, which permits the passage of moisture vapor.

The new finish "won't" crack, as frequently occurs when moisture escapes from inside a structure coated with ordinary paint. It may be washed down, when soiled, simply by spraying water through a garden hose.

Garden Study Club
South Florida is blessed with many, many beautiful flowering trees. . . and more and more are being introduced each year from tropical countries the world over.

Now, during the rainy weather, as you are experiencing, is the ideal time to set out the trees you have decided upon in your landscaping plans. Here's hoping you have allowed plenty of space for the growth (unusually fast here) in planning for your trees. So when this is not fully taken into consideration, re-siting in a jungle-like appearance.

If you are eager to enjoy the fullest beauty of your trees in the shortest period, the trees may be purchased from a good South Florida nursery and set right where you wish them to grow. Set, on the other hand, if you desire to grow the trees from seed, this may be done with a minimum of trouble. The trees grow very fast in our "black gold" and before you know it will be blooming. However, there are some tropical trees that bloom more quickly when rooted or "mossed-off" than when grown from seed. For instance, there is a nice Queensland Crepe Myrtle growing in front of the Community Clubhouse planted by the Garden Club four or five years ago, which has not yet bloomed. The tree, itself, seems in perfect health, but as the tree was purchased for the beauty of its blooms, primarily, it has proven a disappointment so far. On the other hand, cuttings from this type tree have been rooted and showed bloom the second year of growth. The nurseryman stated the tree in the park had been grown from seed.

Everyone is familiar with the Royal Poinciana, and agrees that it bears the correct title, "Royal," for it can easily be propagated from seed. It has proven to be a very fast grower here, and shows bloom usually during the fourth year of growth. However, one must bear in mind that the tree is breaking apart and can easily be uprooted during hurricane winds, proving a menace to nearby buildings. For this reason, it is advisable to plant the tree several feet from a building. The tree may be trimmed to the shape desired.

The maximum beauty at blooming time, though, is when the tree is shaped like an umbrella. This allows for the largest "spread" of color. The Bauhinia, commonly called "Florida-orchid" trees grow fast and bloom profusely here. There are many colors and different species bloom at different periods during the year. It is possible, almost, to have Bauhinias in bloom all during the year. The trees may be grown from seed. In fact, seedlings are quite numerous under such trees and probably may be had for the asking from one who owns a tree you like. It is desirable to first place the seedlings in gallon cans to promote root-growth before setting out in the yard. The trees are quite tough, are not easily uprooted and bend with the wind. They may be trimmed for denser shade. Varieties that have proven satisfactory in Florida are B. variegata—blooming in February, March, and April—purple or white; B. monandra—blooming April to October—pink; B. tomentosa—blooming throughout summer—red; B. purpurea—blooming during October, November and December—purple and white.

A good way to assure the color and type of bloom of the Bauhinia you especially like is to air-layer a limb. If the seed is planted, one can never be quite sure that the color will be exactly like that of the parent. Every seedling varies somewhat from other seedlings. It is worth noting that the Bauhinia, true not only with the Bauhinias, but with other trees as well.

There are many tropical trees grown for their shade and beautiful foliage, as well as their bloom. Among these are the Queensland Umbrella Tree (Breasia setophylla). However, this tree, like the poinciana, is wind-breakable and care should be taken in choosing its permanent site.

A striking summer sight is the "Golden Shower Tree" (Cassia fistula), in bloom. This tree does not like it: feet in water and should be planted in a high place—or a well drained one. It will, too, break in heavy winds, but makes a hasty comeback, as is a very rapid grower.

Florida has quite a few native blooming trees trident that make beautiful specimen trees for your landscape. Among these are the red maple. The tree of the red maple is a beautiful sight in January, with its bright scarlet flowers in dense clusters. A gorgeous specimen of this tree grows on the campus of the Everglades Experiment Station, near the tennis court.

Another lovely tree is the Sweetbay Magnolia (Magnolia virginiana). The white flowers are fragrant and bloom during the spring and early summer. The specimen growing on the State Farm lawn in front of the superintendent's home, is lovely.

Then there is the Tulip tree (Liriodendron tulipifera). The tulip tree has leaves for a short time during the winter months, it comes out in a beautiful springtime dress with lovely tulip-shaped yellow blossoms, reminding one of the northern spring scenery. A tall, stately specimen of this tree grows on the southeast corner of Avenue E. and Main Street.

Let's plant more flowering trees and make Belle Glade a truly tropical paradise of blossoming trees!

OPPORTUNITY

A lost opportunity is the greatest of losses.

—Mary Baker Eddy. I will study and get ready and the opportunity will come.

—Abraham Lincoln. Trouble is only opportunity in work clothes.

—Henry J. Kaiser. The secret of success in life is for a man to be ready for his opportunity when it comes.

—Benjamin Disraeli. Many do not have opportunities as children do at the seashore; they fill their little hands with sand, and then let the grains fall through, one by one, till all are gone.

—Thomas R. Jones. The masses must be loved and saved. They can only be saved if powerful, actual standards of excellence are set up before them.

the story and call of THE SERMON ON THE MOUNT PROJECT:

(See reverse side of this page)

THE SERMON PROJECT is built upon the belief that there are certain well tested lessons which should be brought before the public more often. The old expression, "Peace on earth, good will toward men," makes people thirst for good good sense and peace of mind, at home and abroad.

Throughout the world various theologies have been complicated, almost powerless to solve problems. But it seems that most of all we can use a little religion; perhaps just a little would often do. And we believe such basic training is the best way to disarm the evil genius on all sides of the oceans and in all parts of town and country; to help every one to live simply, to solve problems small and large, and to help us to enjoy life more.

With these things in mind our committee planned the Sermon on the Mount newspaper page, and ran it in the New York Herald Tribune, December 22, 1950.

The response was greater than we expected, and in March, 1951, we appealed to the newspapers of the United States to print the Sermon page from our engraved layout.

Within a few weeks about 145 publishers throughout 39 states had mailed us a copy of their paper for the day they had printed it. They had taken our suggestion, selling the page to an advertiser, organization or group, or printing it themselves or jointly, as an educational public service.

(Those requesting our printing mat, standard or tabloid size, totaling 806. We are grateful to all of the sponsors: churches, business, industry, etc., and to the newspapers—both the ones we have heard from and many more, we're sure, who in due course have printed the Sermon on the Mount page.)

Reports to us from the newspapers, and again the people's response, were extremely good. A few did criticize parts of the Sermon—such as came in to study and modify several points, and likewise to ask in the box for suggestions to clarify its text and spirit. A very few carried us hypocrites, wrote harsh words to us. Others gave suggestions useful to the project. Almost everyone focussed upon the great central strength of the Sermon on the Mount—agreeing that we need to floodlight this charter, to know it, and to use it practically.

These convictions came out in letters from people in every walk of life, of different backgrounds and creeds, from men and women in our government, industry, labor unions, from the newspapers themselves, and so on—a wonderful cross section of human intelligence.

Because time and recitation are of well known importance to every kind of learning, we are grateful to the individual who used their column, Will Rogers, used to say: "Everyone is ignorant, only not about the same things." He showed keen insight and humor as he got around at home or travelled abroad, trying to learn more about human beings, their snarled-up situations and their deepest good.

We have an idea that we believe is far reaching, and it comes from our conviction about this sermon, which we will first try to sum up.

We believe there can be no problem of any kind, concerning an individual or family, our education or community, our agricultural, business, or industrial establishments and those who work in them, or of government at any level (or any kind, just or unjust), that will not yield to the common sense, the courage and the faith of those who really want the answer—when they search for it in the spirit of the Sermon on the Mount, after they know that sermon.

We ask you, children and adults, to set down for us your idea of how to solve some human problem in its light. We suggest you keep a copy. Your answer along with others will receive a study study, aimed at finding out and publishing the ways in which most people actually would apply such sensible teachings.

Today, we are deeply pleased as pressmen throughout the United States, and in Canada, England, South Africa and the Far East, report that they are printing the page and story, sometimes even repeating them. They say they will welcome the page to the people and the schools, for offering actual text sheets from their paper for study and wall use. Many thoughtful people may hesitate to attempt such a reply. But we pray you do. Even a few, clear-cut answers from people in your community, people of faith and different experience, will be of great practical use. They say they will welcome the page to the people and the schools, for offering actual text sheets from their paper for study and wall use. Many thoughtful people may hesitate to attempt such a reply. But we pray you do. Even a few, clear-cut answers from people in your community, people of faith and different experience, will be of great practical use. They say they will welcome the page to the people and the schools, for offering actual text sheets from their paper for study and wall use.

We believe this greatest sermon somehow can produce the answer to every human problem, and offers great power for healing among the nations.

Faithfully yours,
The Sermon on the Mount Project

FLORIDA is a name to be proud of. A name with history, a background and meaning. A magic word in the minds of millions. Don't abbreviate it—spell it out, urges the Florida State Chamber of Commerce.
Frank Edwards Henckle of Jacksonville tells us why we should spell it out. He reminds us that:

Florida is a land of enchantment with three thousand miles of perimeter from Escambia to Nassau to Monroe and back. Mile after mile of shore line on ocean, gulf and bay. Brezes sweep sands, sparkling lakes and rivers, broad beaches and ten thousand islands.

Florida is sixty thousand square miles of croplands, woodlands and glades, hammocks and sloughs, beaches and bays. Florida is a long train load of oranges, grapefruit, tangerines, melons, truck crops and winter vegetables moving to the nation's table. Florida is the magnet that draws tourist laden streamliners, seamen-cruisers, giant airliners and a never ending stream of private motor cars. Its waterways invite the luxury liner, the yachtsman and the small boat enthusiast.

Florida is blunt plants and paper mills, phosphate pits and oil plantations. Palmettos and palms, sugar cane fields, industrial plants, power lines, live oaks and Spanish moss. Big mouth bass, sail fish and leaping tarpon. Florida is motor courts, tennis courts, hotels and motels. Dogwood and orange blossoms, honeymoons' paradise and sportsman's dream.

Its ghosts are legion—Ponce de Leon in Spanish armor, Hernando de Soto, Osceola, Andrew Jackson, Stephen Foster, Dr. Gorrill. Its days are marked with the glory of the sun, fleecy clouds, the thunderhead and the lightning's flash. Florida is fun and frolic and the excitement where there are places to go, things to see, something to do. Race tracks, night clubs, picnic spots, quiet coves, pounding surf, silent forests, bubbling springs, bustling cities, sleepy villages, concrete thoroughfares and crooked woods roads.

Florida is great universities and private colleges, modern schools and strong churches. Florida is the new and the old, age and youth. It caters alike to the energetic and the lazy and is kindly to both. It is bustling and busy and hurrying and recreation and sit-in-the-sun.

Florida is theatres and drinks and snack bars and swank restaurants. Fairs and festivals, rodeos and games, pageants and games. Flame vines, azaleas, orchids, poinsettias, hibiscus and oleander.

Florida is every race, creed and color. Gayly garbed Seminoles. Greed spangled fishermen. Latins, Negroes, Czechs, Swedes, Germans, Jews, Irish, Scotch, Italians.

Florida is national defense. Great airbases, giant bombers and swift pursuit jets, guided missiles, submarines. Coast Guard cutters. Marine barracks, recruiting stations, a National Guard, naval bases and General Van Fleet.

Florida is mangroves and cypress swamps, hilltops and prairies. Mockingbirds and cardinal, raccoon and otter, bear and gopher, bobwhite and bobcat. Lamenting turtles and lazy alligators, butterflies and champagne.

Florida is so much and so much more that its three-story can never be completely told in words. It must be lived from day to day and hour to hour, for it is everchanging and everlasting and far more wonderful than words.

FLORIDA—spell it out.

Churches of Christ, Scientist
Humanity's need for clear thinking and Christlike living will be stressed at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Sacrament."

The following passage will be among those read from Science and Health: "Ask yourself: Am I giving the life that approaches the supreme good? Am I demonstrating the healing power of Truth and Love? If so, then the way will grow brighter 'unto the perfect day.' Your truths will prove what your understanding of God brings to man" (48:9 Ask 14).

The Golden Text is from Leviticus (19:2): "Speak unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, and say unto them, Ye shall be holy: for I the Lord your God am holy."

Now more than ever we must keep in the forefront of our minds the fact that whenever we take away the liberties of those whom we hate, we are opening the way to loss of liberty for those whom we love.

Today's Meditation
The world's most widely used devotional guide.

Read Romans 12:1-8
Be not conformed to this world but be transformed by the renewing of your mind. That is, what you may prove what it is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God. — (Romans 12:2)

An advertisement in a shop window read as follows: "Bring in your old fur. Let us put new life into them. Get long years of warmth and comfort from your old wear through our regeneration process."

The Christian regeneration process needs to be complete; the entire person must be made new. Tired minds as well as weary hearts must find new strength, new life. Only by allowing the spirit of Christ, with its love and power, to enter our beings can we know what it is to be reborn. He must also capture our minds if we are clearly to discern God's will.

As Paul suggests, the human mind needs to undergo a regeneration, a renewal process. The mind of a child thinks as a child. In order for that mind to serve the child when he becomes a man, it must be transformed so that it will think as a man. The mind also needs to be renewed if it is to understand God's will.

PRAYER
O God, we look to Thee for redemption of heart and mind. Help us to accept Christ. May we submit our wills to Thee and receive the guidance of the Holy Spirit in order that we may live the life abundant. In the name of Christ. — Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
By the renewal of our minds we become transformed persons.

— Donald Stillew (Indiana)

GOD

"There is an eye that never sleeps."

Beneath the wing of night; There is an ear that never shuts When sinks the beams of light.

"There is an arm that never tires."

Lord, help me live from day to day.

And when my work on earth is done Help me my new work in Heaven's begun May I forget the crown I've won While thinking still of—others.

Enter Scramble Word U. S. 441 Contest

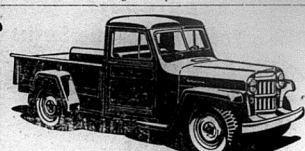

A "Scrambled Word" Contest to gain more word-of-mouth publicity for the U. S. 441 Highway has been started by the U. S. 441 Highway Association with headquarters in Gatlinburg, Tenn.

Entry blanks outlining the rules of the contest are being given to guests in motels and hotels, and to customers of restaurants and service stations in all cities on U. S. 441 from the Great Smokies area in Tennessee to Miami, Fla.

A week's vacation (for two) at a Miami Beach motel, and at the Riverside Hotel, Gatlinburg-in-the-Smokies, along with 250 additional prizes, are offered to those who correctly receive the letters of 12 common words often used by travelers.

According to the rules, anyone may enter the contest except members of the U. S. 441 Highway Association and their immediate families. Entry blanks may be obtained from motels, hotels, restaurants, service stations and Chambers of Commerce.

"Directors of our association feel that the two contests which we will conduct this summer will create more interest in U. S. 441 Highway," says Russell Shaw, executive vice president. "This Scrambled Word Contest will end in October and the prizes may be used anytime next year. This will insure the winners travel U. S. 441 again in 1956."

Florida's Continued Growth Compared

Florida's share of the national wealth last year marks the continuing expansion of the state's economy.

The Florida proportions of national totals reached new highs in 1954 in all major aspects, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce pointed out yesterday.

Examples of this increased economic importance of Florida, 1954 as compared with 1953, are given in this week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division. The total income of Floridians grew from 1.60 per cent of the national income in 1952 to 1.81 per cent last year. During the same period, cash income of the farmers and growers in Florida increased from 1.53 per cent to 1.80 per cent. Bank deposits expanded from 1.26 per cent to 1.41 per cent; and retail sales from 1.93 per cent to 2.09 per cent. Federal internal revenue collections in Florida in 1953 were 28 per cent of national and 97 per cent last year.

Measured in volume, rather than in dollars, electric power production stood at 1.53 per cent in 1952 and 1.83 per cent in 1954. Passenger car registrations grew from 2.52 per cent to 2.45 per cent; telephones from 1.79 per cent to 2 per cent. During the two year interval, Florida's population pushed up from 1.99 per cent to 2.19 per cent.

These gains, although in fractional percentage point, mean added millions in dollars or volume when applied to the large national totals.

DR. NANCE RECOGNIZED IN STATE POLIO DRIVE

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis recently gave recognition to Dr. Ellwood C. Nance, President of the University of Tampa, by presenting him an award of merit for his outstanding leadership as State Chairman for the 1955 March of Dimes. In presenting the award, Marion T. Jeffries, Southern Florida State Representative for the Foundation, commented that Florida's March of Dimes total of $1,125,000, represented an increase of more than $52,000 over the 1954 total. The Foundation feels that the campaign led by Dr. Nance, Chairman of the Florida State Board of Polio, has been largely responsible for the energetic leadership of Dr. Nance who, as State Chairman, directed four months of intensive effort to the program.

Dr. Nance's dedicated efforts which involved 2500 miles of travel in the State of Florida and personal contact with most of the campaign leaders in the 67 counties paid rich dividends," Mr. Jeffries said.

Accepting the award, Dr. Nance stated that the support given the 1955 March of Dimes was a direct reflection of the esteem with which the people of Florida hold for the Foundation for its many direct services to Florida residents. Dr. Nance expressed confidence that the people of Florida would continue to generously support the March of Dimes until polio is defeated.

DEMOCRATS IN HOUSE PLAN SOCIAL SECURITY CHANGES FOR OLD FOLKS

Major amendments to the Social Security Act have been offered by the Democratic members of the House Committee on Ways and Means this week. The program has been in closed session of Old Age and Survivors which contains a provision whereby a determination of total extended disability is made for the purpose of providing a freeze of the wage record of disabled workers so as to preserve their insurance rights. The Cooper proposal would provide for the payment of benefits upon such a determination having been made.

The Tennessee legislator recommends the lowering of the age of women beneficiaries from 65 to 62. His program would broaden the Social Security Act to provide benefits for disabled children and the mothers of such children, when the children are either physically or mentally disabled and are 18 years of age or older.

Republican Ways and Means Committee members protested the plan, which would cost between one and two billion dollars. It is predicted the bill will amount to a 25 per cent increase in the social security tax to finance the proposal.

DISTRICT PUBLIC WELFARE DIRECTOR MAKES REPORT

Thomas E. Penick, Chairman of the District Board No. 10 of the State Department of Public Welfare, reports that in Palm Beach County 3,422 persons were assisted in the three categories of public assistance for the month of June.

A total of 1,559 persons received Old Age Assistance to the amount of $93,314.00. Eighty persons received Aid to the Blind, totaling $3,949.00. Four hundred fifty-seven families, representing 1,407 children received Aid to Dependent Children in the amount of $25,400.50.

In addition, 122 children received service during the month, 28 of whom were in foster homes. The total State and local cost for these child welfare services was $1,935.95.

There were two adoption petitions studied for the Circuit Court. These are children placed in homes independent of service through a licensed child placement agency, and the Welfare Board is responsible according to law to make these reports to the Court.

Palm Beach County is also represented on the District No. 10 Board by Mrs. Doris Sasser, Pahokee; Mrs. Helen Woodward and Mrs. Lucile Turnage of West Palm Beach, and Doyle Morgan of Delray Beach.

Cong. Paul Rogers Busy on Good Neighbor Work

Specialists Recognized In New Army Insignia

As previously announced by the Department of the Army, the Army's new noncommissioned officer-specialist program goes into effect on July 1. The program provides that noncommissioned officer identification and status be given only to enlisted personnel holding leadership positions. A separate category of enlisted personnel, called specialists, includes those who have technical and administrative skills.

Designed to increase the prestige of the noncommissioned officer by restoring him to his traditional position as the backbone of the Army, the program will also preserve the respect properly due the specialist. Separation of the NCO from the specialist is made in the top four pay grades. On the conversion no one will lose pay. Effective July 1, titles in the top four enlisted grades are as follows:

Noncommissioned Officer — Master Sergeant, Sergeant 1st Class, Sergeant, Corporal.

Specialist — Master Specialist (MSP), Specialist 1st Class (SP1), Specialist 2nd Class (SP2), Specialist 3rd Class (SP3).

Private and Private First Class ratings remain the same. New rank insignia will accompany the change for the specialists. The present noncommissioned officer stripes will remain.

Farm Tires Come Of Age

MODERN MECHANIZATION of the farm is well illustrated in this picture showing one of the largest and one of the smallest farm tires. A BFG secretary, has room to spare as the tire comfortably in an 18-32 400-70 smooth implement tire. A recent survey conducted by the rubber company showed that more than 70 types of farm equipment

Miss Stella Wigglesworth and Miss Sara Pickett, bridesmaids, wore gowns identical to the maid of honor. Miss Jacqueline Stansell was her sister's junior bridesmaid. She wore a short pale pink tulle dress with a crushed cummerbund forming a bow in the back. Her head piece and corsage was the same as Miss Ryal's.

first and second grade school children in Florida have not yet received the second injection for "various reasons," Dr. Parks said.

"Our county health department directors are anxious to provide these injections to as many qualified children as possible, but it is not fair to children in other states, where the vaccine is not yet available for the second injection, to keep using stocks of Salk vaccine on hand indefinitely."

In asking for return of surplus vaccine, Dr. Parks left a loophole for county health department directors still holding or planning make-up clinics.

In a memorandum issued to all county health departments he stated that "in order to comply with the Polio Foundation's request for return of surplus vaccine we ask that you return to our office immediately all Salk vaccine which you estimate will not be used in the near future. If you estimate that you need more vaccine to continue your second injections, please advise the State Board of Health."

The expiration date on Salk vaccine stocks supplied Florida health departments in 1950 clubs in 60 countries and geographically extends only to October, which makes it impossible to keep scarce supplies in indefinite storage, he added.

Two Florida Brothers Win Fisher Body Prizes

Thirteen youthful Florida automobile designers today were declared winners in the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild Silver Anniversary model car competition.

Heading the list with state and regional honors were two brothers from Starke, Charles D. Kirkland took top awards in the Senior age division while his brother, Lonzo Kirkland, won identical honors in the Junior Division. Each boy received $150 in cash as their state awards.

As regional winners for the area comprising Florida, Alabama and Mississippi, the youths will receive an expense-free trip to the national convention of the Craftsman's Guild in Detroit August 2-5. At that time their model cars will compete with other regional winners for one of the eight university scholarship prizes offered as grand national awards.

Announcement of state and regional winners throughout the nation was made today in Detroit where judging has been in progress for three weeks.

Other Florida winners were: Senior Division — 2nd place $100 Melvin Marken, Miami; 3rd place $50 John L. Bonomo, Miami; Honorable Mention, Charles Bush, Miami; GM Son,

Lions Elect International President

Hubert W. Balboni, Ocala, Duplicate, James B. Anderson, Miami; James H. Jones, Zephyrhills; Willard P. Perry, III, De Land.

Junior Division — 2nd place $100, Gay A. Rimer, Jr., Starke; 3rd place $50 James C. Hicks, Jr., Miami; Honorable Mention, Parker Pettit, Jacksonville; Johnny R. Hernandez, Miami.

Young Anderson shares honors with Balboni because Guild regulations provide for duplicate awards when a General Motors family member qualifies. Balboni is the son of a GM employee.

Judging is proceeding now to select the eight best models from the 40 regional winners in the nation for the university scholarship awards which are two for $4,000 each, two for $3,000, two for $2,000 and two for $1,000. These winners will be announced at the annual Guild convention in Detroit in August.

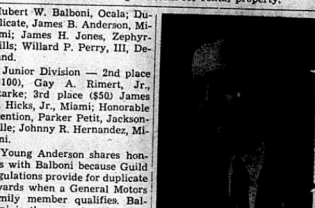

THE WALKER BUSINESS BLOCK, one of the main business buildings on Palm Beach Road and directly across the street from the H. C. Willis and Sons Country Store, was moved last week to its new location on Joe Lewis Avenue, just south of Palm Beach County Road 1.

The building was erected in 1937 by the late A. O. Walker, Sr., and was a part of the A. O. Walker Estate. It embraced three business store rooms on the main floor and six hotel rooms on the second floor.

It was occupied in early years by Wright's Drug Store, the Cozy Corner Cafe and hotel rooms operated by Mrs. Edna Walker and a barbershop. Living quarters in the rear of the drug and sundries store were usually occupied by the operator. The State Road Department more recently occupied the former cafe quarters and a Bottle Gas Company the former shop.

Defective piling caused the building to settle to the ground level about a year ago, since which time it has been unoccupied.

O'Neal Walker and J. C. Bowen purchased the building and site and last week it was moved under contract by R. H. Martin of Fort Myers. The building was so large and the task of getting it on wheels so difficult that it had to be cut in two in order to accomplish the moving. It has been placed on permanent foundation facing west on Joe Lewis Ave., and is being restored to its original form for rental property.

NEW GM RESEARCH HEAD—Dr. Lawrence R. Hafstad, famed physicist and atomic energy education, will become director of General Motors research staff later this year. GM President Harlow H. Curtis announced, Dr. Hafstad, who is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, was the first director of the Atomic Energy Commission. He is called by scientists and AEC officials "the world's foremost authority on harnessing the atom for industrial power."

Last Chance For Polio Vaccine, July 11-12

The Florida State Board of Health today urged all county health departments to sound a "last call" on second-round Salk vaccine injections for first and second grade school children.

Children who missed their second polio vaccine shots have a last chance to get them next week, according to Mrs. Veronica Rickheimer of the Palm Beach County Health Department.

Mrs. Rickheimer will be at Ocala's Clinic on July 11 at 8:30 a.m. to vaccinate white children and will be at Okeechobee Camp July 12 at the same time for colored children.

Reason for sounding the last call, said Dr. L. L. Parks, Bureau of the state health agency's Bureau of Preventive Diseases, is that the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has asked for the return of all leftover stocks of vaccine sent to Florida for the second-round injections. Vaccine was supplied free by the foundation.
